Ice Box Projects Space (www.cranearts.com) is one of Philadelphia's newest and largest art venues. Our goal is to present a broad range of high quality work produced by visual and multimedia contemporary art disciplines. We are particularly interested in projects that address and challenge the space, and support artists and curators.

ATTENTION CURATORS:

Crane Arts and the Ice Box Projects Space is currently requesting proposals from curators for the 2012 -2013 exhibition season. Innovative and ambitious exhibitions are preferred.

Guidelines for Curators

Project/Exhibition Proposals are reviewed on a rolling basis. The season runs October - May with two to four curated projects/exhibitions annually. Curators may not include their own work in the project/exhibition proposal and are expected to be involved in and onsite during the installation process.

Project/Exhibition Proposal format must include:

A typed curatorial statement, not more than two hundred words.

Ten images representative of work being considered for inclusion in the proposed project/exhibition. Images should be printed hard copies, slides and/or CDROM.

A current resume or curriculum vitae listing curatorial experience.

A current resume or bio of proposed artists to be included in the project/exhibition.

Indication of any special technical requirements or gallery preparation.

There is a rental fee of $1,250/week, $250 refundable security deposit and an additional $250 scheduling fee, so the proposal should include project budget and list of funding sources.

A SASE is required for the return of materials.

The Ice Box Project Space is 5,000 square feet – 50' W x 100' L x 21'HT, and 270 linear display feet with concrete floor. The lighting in the Ice Box space is incandescent only. There is an additional 2,000 square feet of video/small work display, and/or reception space adjacent to the Ice Box Project Space also with concrete floors and both incandescent and natural lighting. The Icebox is heated and air conditioned. In addition to loading dock access to both spaces, an 8' W x 12' HT door at ground level provides drive in access for the Ice Box.
